

EMPLOYMENT EQUITY POLICY

The purpose of this policy is to provide guidelines for the implementation of Employment Equity principles and practices at Rand Refinery.

Context

The South African Constitution promotes the fundamental rights of equality and the exercise of true democracy and Rand Refinery acknowledges the principle of prohibition and elimination of unfair discrimination.

The primary purpose of Employment Equity as described in the Act is to achieve employment equity through:

- The elimination of unfair discrimination based on race, gender and disability
- The implementation of affirmative action measures to advance persons from "designated groups" (black people, women and people with disabilities). The Act recognises that the mere removal of discrimination will not lead to advancement, rectifying the past and development of groups that have previously been denied such opportunities. Employment equity measures, including affirmative action are needed to ensure that equality does not just remain a formality, but is achieved in a substantive way.
